FISE MONTPELLIER 2022 Scooter Freestyle Park - PRO FINAL

JAMIE HULL DOES IT AGAIN!

The level was incredible today in the Scooter Freestyle Park Finals as the Pro's gave it their all on the Hurricane Parks ramps, in front of a packed crowd.

12 athletes had qualified and they each had 2 runs of 50 seconds with the best run counting. The judges were looking at the difficulty of the tricks, the risk taking, the style, and the amplitude.

Jamie Hull, winner of FISE Montpellier in 2019, had already won the Spine at the start of the week and he set fire to the banks of the lez to keep his winning streak going. He landed so many tricks including a double flair, his perfect runs scored him 93.50 points.

Dante Hutchinson, the big star and world champion in 2017, joined us from Mexico where he was for a more street-style competition. He put on a big show with tricks worthy of a gymnast. His versatility and his legendary amplitude ignited the Montpellier crowd and he scored 92.25 points.

An exceptional level in this final, Jordan Robles, a new recruit from California came 3rd in his first FISE with 90.50 points.

In fourth place is Frenchman and Montpellier resident Timon Pharabod, barely 17 years old and he landed all his tricks perfectly, which left us with goosebumps!

THE ICING ON THE SCOOTER CAKE

The latest addition to the big family of action sports, Scooter (or Trottinette for the French-speaking crowd) has developed at full speed to become an essential element of this urban universe. And right after the Pro finals, what's better than a Best Trick contest (that one is self-explanatory, even for the French) to realize the obvious: Scooter is crazier and stronger than ever!

Indeed, with legendary riders like Jamie Hull and Dante Hutchinson present on this Freestyle Park 2 (they just took first and second place in the Freestyle event, respectively), it didn't take long for other competitors to try and up the ante with some of the craziest tricks we've seen all week. Local killer Timon Pharabod went big with a full finger front scoot, while Esteban Clot landed an insane cash roll, flying over the massive launch box... The wrong way! Two crazy tricks, indeed, yet not as crazy as Jordan Robles' scooter flip triple bar spin: that one was truly the icing on the cake, and the Californian star rightfully takes home the cash prize and Best Trick award!

Right after the best tricks tackled and the winners crowned, the public moved just a few meters out of the park for a rail heated by the Roller the day before, in an equally overexcited atmosphere. A dozen riders rushed over these 23 steps without any apprehension to give the public an exceptional show, between ever more complex tricks to tackle to the end of the rail and impressive falls. Lucas Di Meglio takes first place with 4 big tricks landed without failing including a board slide back lip and a fifty fifty over fifty fifty. Adrien Kingolo aka Akimzou follows him with his "dingolo" and Adrien Pierqun with a fifty fifty board slide before a nice fall.

Mouth agape, short of breath, half-deaf thanks to the roaring of the crowd: that's the state we end up in after attending this kind of show! Absolutely crazy performances, genius riders: thanks to the Scooter community for sharing such a thrill with us on this FISE!
